

No Ifs, Buts or Maybe's

One of the characteristics of more conservative understandings of Christianity is certainty. It does feel that on whatever question of theology (understanding God), Biblical interpretation (how we read the Bible), liturgy (how we worship), ecclesiology (how we organise church life), or daily life, a very clear response is readily available. For those with liberal, or from the wide middle-ground of Christianity, certainty can feel hard to come by.

When we are faced with an issue or question more often than not we can come up with an answer, but then we tend to think around our answer and come up with exceptions, differing views, and examples in which we've acted or said the opposite. Life is exceedingly complicated, and at times it's hard to get our heads around. That is true, and how we respond in faith to life must take into account its complexity if we are to live with integrity and honesty. But do we have to start with complexity?

If we start with complexity then we will tie ourselves up in knots and be buried in the paperwork that arises when we try to grapple with it. We do need structure and order in life to help us all cope, but we need to start simply and hold that idea throughout any detailed explorations and reflect upon it at the end. As a denomination we are being encouraged to explore Radical Welcome and hopefully the soon to be produced Welcoming Church programme from the Synod will support us in it. The simplest expression of Radical Welcome is that everyone is welcome. The simple statement gets immediately complicated when we start thinking about the variety and diversity implied by everyone, and the variables, preferences, contradictions, and fallibilities inherent within welcome.

But we start from the simple and look at how we greet people, what our building says to them, how accessible our worship or activities are, how we express and share how being Church is important to us, and seek to engage what people are looking for that we can connect with. All that before we even start contemplating any of the stereotypes we have of possible people who could turn up.

We welcome as Christ would welcome, and work through the complications later. If we start with complexity then we can end up having arguments about possibilities and completely miss the challenges and opportunities before us. If we start simply then we can concentrate on the real issues and questions that are right before us. Looking at what we see every day which we don't always see beyond the outward appearances of.

Discovering those that walk past us because they don't believe we have anything to offer them.

Part of this is creating space for everyone to share their questions and to share the stories of how they felt the first time they came along. It also can be an exercise in imagination as we try to put ourselves in someone else's shoes and try to look afresh at the place that we know so well. It can also mean talking to users of the building, our neighbours, and finding out what they think.

Offering a Radical Welcome is a simple idea, and we can be certain that it is a worthy ambition of a community of Christ's followers to do, and our exploration of it begins in small and simple ways which may lead us down complicated paths. We travel these paths together, trusting in God, following Christ, and relying on the Spirit to guide, encourage and affirm us.

Of this we can be certain.

With every blessing, Rev'd David R. Coaker

CHURCH ACTION ON POVERTY

Due to a production mishap in the last magazine, as well as the pair of blank pages created by having two few pages of material (things just have to be in multiples of four!), the top few lines of pages 11 and 16 did not appear. This meant that Dave's advert for the current DVD series on "The Heart of Christianity" did not have the intended link with being aimed at prospective Church members: the Christian Aid Collection appeal on page 16 was untitled and did not have the introduction from Ernest about somehow finding out that he had been recognised by Christian Aid as our church's link person. This last 'appointment' means that postal material from Christian Aid needs to be shared rather than seen as semi junk mail to go with all the many appeals that the Wrennall household gets virtually day

As the final paragraph on page 17 of the last magazine states I now find that material received from Church Action on Poverty comes to me in the same non-personal way. This worthy charity - or rather pressure group - dates from the old 'Church and Society' group in Glyn Eatock's time and is the organisation represented by its 'tongues of fire' logo on the pulpit banner.

This Manchester based organisation has strong URC links as its National Coordinator, Niall Cooper, is from the URC and writes a monthly page in 'Reform'. The recently arrived copy of its quarterly journal, "Spark", is eloquent about the impact of cuts and changes in the benefit system, about food banks, living wages, food and fuel poverty, the effect of the change to Universal Credit and the way church congregations can get involved in worship, in financial and in putting pressure on to decision makers. There were worship resources for Pentecost Sunday (too late for us this year!) and reports on actions taken by some churches and local CAP groups. There was also word of a very generous legacy from an Anglican canon.

This sounds very political and, indeed, it needs to be for that is where life changing decisions are made and where caring love, as an option, needs to be presented to those who think of Profits rather than listen to Prophets

I have one copy of 'Spark' See me if you wish to borrow it.

FAMILY NEWS

Becky Cochrane and her partner Jake wish to thank everyone for the cards and gifts on the birth of their son Riley. They were very much appreciated.

Ann Gill, Mrs Park and the family wish to thank everyone for their lovely cards, calls and kind words on the death of Ann's father.

Arnold and Olwyn Rayton wish to thank everyone for flowers, cards and good wishes on the occasion of their Golden Wedding in March and also Frank McGuire for the photograph. Thanks also to the Guild for sharing memories with us and to Ernest for all the facts and figures of 50 years ago!

We send our love to the following babies who have been welcomed into our church fellowship.

March 24th. . Willow Marie Singleton, baby daughter of Issis and Dean.

April 7th. Zara Madeleine Hampton, baby daughter of Hilary and John

April 28th Leonidas John, baby son of Paula and Dean

May 5th Mason Reid Walker

Our minister took all these services.

Congratulations to Mike and Jan Chapman on the birth of their first grandchild, James Christopher, baby son of David and Sarah Chapman, Congratulations to Stacey Ann Mary Maguire and Ian Edward Eastwood who were married by our minister in our church on Sunday 31st March. Also to Lisa Crump and Daniel Franks who were married on Sunday May 5th at Mitton Fold and to Emma Porter and Andrew Turvey who were married at Bolton School on 25th May. Emma is the eldest daughter of Ann and David Gill.

We congratulate Sally Dempsey who passed her Grade Two Flute exam (with High Merit). Not to be outdone we congratulate her brother William who is goal keeper for Brinscall Village under 9s Football Team (the Reds!) which, though in the Third Division, reached the final of the Challenge Cup competition where they narrowly lost to Ribble Wanderers from the Premier Division by three goals to two. The Reds finished as league runners-up, just one point behind a team from Longridge despite having beaten them recently by four goals to one. They will be receiving their medals from the Mayor of Chorley at a presentation ceremony in Chorley Town Hall.

We remember in our prayers our church friends who have been in hospital having treatment or have been unwell at home. Malcolm Birrell, Bob Kay, June Kay, Jean Emery, Doris Holt, Alys Blackhurst, Stella Eccleston, Les North, Linda Barnes and Edna Harvey.

Also we offer support to Lois Porter, Linda Kay and Lesley Lowe who are concerned about the health of parents and to Jan Chapman whose brother is very ill.

Forthcoming 'special' birthdays.

Mary Taylor will be 90 on June 10th.

Ivor Pugh will be 80 on June 30th

Ernest and Marjorie Wrennall will be 80 on July 17th and 29th respectively.

We hope they all have a lovely day.

We congratulate our good friend Mavis from the Mavis Berry and Helen Allen School of Dance which Mavis began as a teenager in our church hall in 1953 and now celebrates its Diamond Jubilee. Mavis, who now runs the school with her daughter Helen, has made a great contribution to the church in very many ways and we thank her for the help that she has given to us.

We extend our love and sympathy to the family of Albert Draper who died on April 16th. Albert, a keen musician, had a remarkable war record but we know him best as an almost ever-present worshipper in our church.. Our minister took his funeral service before the interment in the grave where his wife rests and which he visited virtually every day.

We also offer sympathy to Anne Stewart and family on the death of Anne's mother Margaret Fishwick who died on April 30th. Her funeral took place at Charnock Richard Crematorium on 14th May. Margaret had been a loyal member of the church specially concerned with the Women's Guild , and for many years was a regular Rambler and Plodder with the church groups. The church was well represented at the funeral service.

At the recent Financial Church Meeting our Treasurer, Jackie Cochran presented the church accounts for 2012 which we were pleased to accept. In her report, she paid tribute to the help that she receives from Linda Crump in handling the banking and the Gift Aid side of things and Ian Dempsey for acting as auditor. We add our thanks to hers- but more than that, we wish to thank Jackie herself for the absolutely tremendous work which she does throughout the year. She does a marvellous job for us and we are indeed grateful. She is not just a treasurer, she is herself an absolute Treasure.

RECENT HAPPENINGS

Future generations of potential church historians will delight in being able to consult accounts of the church activities such as the following in order to see what 'ordinary' people were up to in the last part of the Second Elizabethan Age. So what happened in the Spring of 2013?

Plods and Rambles

In April, on a perfect day of sunshine, our ramblers, led by Arnold Rayton, explored the Wrea Green area of the mid Fylde. We met at the home of Arnold's son, Stephen near Ribby Hall and where we also enjoyed refreshments prepared by Louise on our return. It was an absolutely perfect walk

The May ramble to Sizergh Castle and Levens in southern Cumbria which was planned and led by David Lamb threatened to be an absolute washout. The forecast was for torrential rain but in the end we had an excellent walk with no real rain at all. True we had mud but it was quite a spectacular walk in an area hardly known to any of the nine walkers. There was plenty to excite the wildlife enthusiasts (including an incredible field of ant hills) and spectacular views across the Lythe Valley which made David's promised "uppity bits" worthwhile.

The Pensioner's Plod for April was a very local one with a walk round the entire perimeter of Worden Park led by Ernest. Because of a lengthy rain free period we were able to follow woodland paths normally too boggy to attempt. We met and ate at the Eagle and Child hostelry which became the first such place to greet us with complementary tea and coffee as we assembled to order our meals for later.

The May Plod was also led by Ernest in the Heskin area near Ecclestone with food taken at the Farmers Arms. Unfortunately it rained heavily so only half the brave souls who turned up actually did the walk and ploughed through the mud while the other half had leisurely morning coffee etc in the Barn farmers market.

The Spring Fair on the morning of Saturday April 6th was quite well supported and a pleasing number of 'outside' visitors were present. Rather more care had been taken with the presentation of the various stalls and this probably paid off in the sales figures. We thank all concerned perhaps especially those who baked and marmaladed or provided the Raffle and Tombola prizes which remain our most profitable outlets. About £650 was made which is not bad for an event which is really just a Fund Raising Group effort rather than an event taken up by the whole church congregation.

It was Leyland's turn to host the joint Maundy Thursday communion service with members from the congregation of Dave's other church at Penwortham. However the combined attendance was rather disappointing to say the least. By contrast on Good Friday morning our church was virtually full both upstairs and down as we hosted the service which was the climax of the Churches Together in Leyland walk of witness. For the first time the procession from St Mary's had a series of costumed tableaux of some of the Stations of the Cross en route. Because our minister had to lead worship in Penwortham Ernest had the privilege of leading the service at Leyland - quite a daunting challenge as a lay preacher with so many of the town's ordained clergy.

All went well however with Jackie projecting the hymns and John Wilson standing in at the keyboard as the procession arrived at our church well before the time Janet had been asked to attend. Following the service there were refreshments in the church hall and we thank Linda, Lorna, Lesley and Ann for coping so well with the multitude.

On Wednesday April 24th our Guild acted as hosts to a good number of ladies from other United Reformed Churches in the old Fylde District. We did this very efficiently with a good plated tea served in church as the Church Hall was already in use. Before that there was a Service conducted by Revd Shirley Farrier and Communion at which, as is custom, the host church's minister presides. So David, as one of the few gentlemen present, played his part. We thank Shirley for a splendid act of worship as well as all the ladies who played their part in the service and in the catering

It should be noted that the District Women's organisation relies very much on Leyland leadership as June Kay is President and Mollie Ward is Secretary. They do a splendid job and June, helped very much by Bob, has already travelled widely to visit, and speak at, ladies groups in churches as far away as Hambleton, Penwortham and at least three places in Blackpool.

GARDENING

We had a very nice May Day weekend but not much in the way of sunshine and warmth since. However things are now growing in the garden, the lawns are being cut and the weeds are appearing fast. Keep the hoe going at regular intervals so that the weeds are kept under control.

Make the most of enjoying the spring flowers while they last and look around in gardens now for ideas for next year. Visit garden centres and see what is available, you will see a wide range of produce on offer.

Do not be in too big a hurry to buy or plant out summer bedding plants until the weather warms up. Always harden off plants first to minimise losses.

In a earlier magazine I wrote about bees being in decline possibly by insecticides getting into their food chain. The E.U. have this week banned the use of certain chemicals in the garden in a bid to stop the decline.

The best flowers that we can grow for sustaining bees and butterflies are anything that is a single rather than double flowered. There are a wide range of daisy type flowers such as marigolds, asters, rudbeckia, helenium and heliopsis.

Other plants with single flowers are clematis, dahlias and chrysanthemums.

Enjoy your garden.

(*2) The coach will depart from outside the Leisure Centre at 11.30am (please check this) to go to Ambleside for the Bowls competition (or other activity of your choice) before a meal at an Ambleside hotel.

(*3) The Synod 'Big Day Out' is for members of church fellowships throughout the whole North Western Synod. There is a great selection of varied activities from 10.30am to 6.30pm and, rather than the scattered and often open air nature of the splendid Big Day Out at Morecambe two years ago, the one site under cover nature of the Norbreck Castle Hotel should eliminate potential weather problems. We could do with four volunteers for the Quiz team competition and we urgently need some volunteer to prepare an A1 size poster to illustrate the kind of church we are. It is unlikely that we will have a coach but car sharing is a possibility . If you are interested have a word with Ann Gill, Linda Barnes or Ernest Wrennall (who went to the last such event and had a super time.)

LAST NIGHT OF THE PROMS 2013

This years performance before a virtually full house audience was magnificent. People are accustomed to something special and they were not disappointed by what was on offer. Once again the splendid Lostock Hall Brass Band was there in strength and were in fine form. They clearly enjoy playing to a capacity audience who respond so well and we appreciate the way in which they are content to allow the other artistes share the programme time so freely. These solo performers were Heather Bailey (flute) making a welcome return visit and Lewis Hampson, a very impressive and confident singer who will surely go far.

Pride of place goes to Victoria Ward and Ivan Sharpe who once again were willing to travel from London to share their magnificent voices in operatic and musical theatre selections which were thrilling to the ear. There was audience participation in the traditional Songs of Praise section introduced by a one man version of the LURC Singers and most of all in the Union Jack waving 'Land of Hope and Glory' type music of the full Royal Albert Hall 'Last Night' finale.

A great night , and a profitable one bringing over £1700 to swell church funds- I took the opportunity to thank those involved and it is equally appropriate to repeat that 'thank you' to end this report. This is what was said

"First a special word of thanks to all who played a part
In this celebration of the best of music's art
The artists you've already clapped until your hands are sore
In fact I've heard a voice or two that said 'Encore, Encore'
So one more time for Vicky, Ivan, Lewis, Heather too
And of course the Brass Band here - its been a splendid 'do'.

But others too have been involved; deserve applause as well
Made the brew, washed up, box-officed and made tickets sell

Worked with the screen, the sound folk too- or saw to the décor

Probably I have missed a few and should have mentioned more

Like the one who did the planning and negotiations too

I mean of course dear Mollie Ward - we owe so much to you
So if you have enjoyed the night, to show appreciation
Put your hands together now and give one last ovation."

Sixth Lancashire Churches Sponsored Ride and Stride

Saturday 14th September, 2013

The National Churches Trust bike ride and stride has become an annual event in many part of the country. Riders / striders are sponsored to visit churches across their county, the money raised being divided between the Trust and a church chosen by the rider. In 2008, a group of cycling enthusiasts from different churches in Preston set up the first such ride in Lancashire, and it has been steadily growing since.

It is an opportunity for anyone to get out on their bike, or walk, with friends, family, as a church group, or alone; to have a nice day cycling - or walking - on quiet roads in lovely surroundings in the country or town; to visit some interesting churches, including those nearby they might not have visited; and to raise money to help with the upkeep of our local churches.

This event is part of the Hope initiative, encouraging local churches to work together to serve their local communities and to live out more actively the good news of God's love.

Riders will receive a warm welcome in the churches, and some will have refreshments and toilet facilities available.

Since last year there is the added element that the GUILD WHEEL, a 21 mile cycle route around Preston, is open, and several churches are located close by the wheel. As last year, we are also planning to hold a service of thanksgiving at the Brockholes nature reserve, which is also on the route of the Guild wheel.

Churches in Preston and across the Fylde will be open to welcome riders and walkers and to sign them in, between 10 am and 5 pm. There is no set route; a map and a list of churches is provided at the website, and using these you can choose your own route, visiting as many or as few churches as you wish.

However, why not devise a route joining your church with others close by? This could even be used as a prayer walk / ride.

Sponsor forms and maps are available at the website – final details from early June <http://www.rideandstrideuk.org/2012/08/lancashire/>

THE GIFT

From the makers of the acclaimed genealogy series Who Do You Think You Are?, and the hit family reunion series Long Lost Family, The Gift (working title) is an inspirational new programme for BBC One that helps people express their gratitude or make amends.

Is there someone who has changed the course of your life forever? Someone you never got the chance to thank properly? Or someone you've wronged in the past who you feel a burning need to apologise to? Do you long to talk to them but can't find the courage to do it alone? What if you've lost touch with them altogether?

Living with an unpaid debt of gratitude or a long overdue apology can be an enormous burden. For many thousands of people across Britain, it's often impossible to move on until you've had the chance to express your feelings in person. The Gift is the programme that can help. From tracking down the stranger who saved your life to helping you build bridges with people who you've seriously wronged in past, The Gift can end the years of guilt, worry or longing and finally let you begin to find closure.

With a team of professional mediators, psychologists and experts in tracing people, The Gift will document the stories of people who want to seek forgiveness or express their gratitude and need our help to do so.

We'll track down the people they want to find, support them as they prepare for a face to face meeting, and film them selecting a gift, which might be a token of thanks or to make amends.

The Gift is planned for broadcast by BBC One in a prime-time mid-week slot and will be presented by a well known TV personality.

Wall to Wall Television is one of the UK's leading production companies, with a reputation for producing ground-breaking, intelligent and sensitively made television content. THE MITE SCHEME

It was in May 1990, at the instigation of Glyn Eatock, that our (then monthly) Church meeting changed its format so that, when general business was out of the way, the members joined the sub group of their choice to concentrate on one of four different aspects of church life. One of these was the World Church group, which I led, and which was aimed at building up awareness of the Christian faith in other lands while the existing Mission Committee concentrated on money raising to support the overseas mission work of the URC.

At this first meeting of the group consideration was given to a letter in 'Reform' from Roy Barnett of a Northamptonshire church who described how his church collected the then fairly new 5p coins to support a UNICEF campaign to combat the enormous death rate from diarrhoea among children who do not have a pure water supply. Roy Barnett called these coins 'Widow's Mites, having found that 5p would pay for a sachet of salt /sugar which could save a life. So we began the scheme which we introduced to our congregation on July 8th with a specially written Diarrhoea playlet.

The idea caught on and, largely through our advocacy, spread to other churches including Leyland St Mary's. So every Sunday people bring 5p 'widow's mite' coins, place them in the tin, which is dedicated with the offering and the following Sunday the number of 'lives saved' by the previous weeks giving is printed on the notice sheets.

Les North, a founder member of the Group, agreed to act as treasurer of the scheme by counting and banking the money and sending the amounts received by cheque to Mr Barnett. That was nearly quarter of a century ago and Mr Barnett some time ago passed on the national 'Widows Mite/ UNICEF' coordinator role to another dedicated Northamptonshire person. Sadly our own Les North feels that now is the time for him to do the same and we thank him so very much for 23 years of dedicated service. Many hundreds of thousands of fiddly little coins have been dealt with - and many thousands of children's lives have been saved . We need someone to take over and handle this essential act of service. Les made it a labour of love: a privilege rather than a duty. If you feel you could respond, have a word with your Elder or our minister, but please do so quickly. Children's lives are at stake.
